

Education partners takes over Q-Learning Academy

Munich, 29 January 2024

In January 2024, Education partners, which is majority-owned by the Odewald KMU II fund, acquired the Wuppertal-based Q-Learning Akademie, one of the leading providers of online training courses in the areas of Lean, Six Sigma and Design for Six Sigma. This acquisition will see the range of courses on offer in the business area systematically expanded.

Since Odewald KMU's investment in Education partners in September 2021, a total of five acquisitions have been made in addition to the development of organisational structures and the introduction of numerous organic growth initiatives. As a result, Education partners, with its thematic focus on education, health, business and animals, is already one of the leading online training providers in the DACH region with more than 60 employees in Lippstadt, Berlin, Vienna and Wuppertal.

In addition to the diverse potential for organic development, further acquisitions are planned in the highly attractive online training market.
